

ESCC March News!

Dear Mom and Dad,

During the month of Leprechauns, we will be busy doing St. Patrick's Day activities. We will also be learning and celebrating different nationalities. The children will be asking you what their nationality is. We would appreciate any contributions about their nationality to share (i.e.: flags, books, costumes, food specialties, etc.) Parents are also welcomed to come in and share their nationalities with us.

Happy March Birthday's

Danielle Jarrett Ava
Daniel Connor

Birthdays will be celebrated on March 5th and 6th.

We will be doing something special to celebrate St. Patrick's Day on Monday and Tuesday, March 17th & 18th, be watching for a letter from your child's teacher with the details. We can all be a little Irish on these days, so be sure to wear something green.

With March come spring and many spring activities. Some classes will be talking about the hospital. If you work in a hospital or Doctor's office and have access to surgical gowns, masks, etc. that you would like to donate, we would be most appreciative.

READING TIPS FROM MS MARY IN THE LIBRARY:

Percy Bysshe Shelley, a noted English poet, wrote in the early 1800's:

Know you what it is to be a child?
It is to believe in love, to believe in belief,
It is to turn pumpkins into coaches.
And mice into horses, lowliness into loftiness,
Nothing into everything.

Although two hundred years have passed since Shelley wrote these insights, our role as parents and/or teachers to our children has not changed. As we strive to teach our youngsters the lessons of life, we use many avenues to achieve this goal: our words, our actions, and the books we choose to read to the young minds in our care. Let us not forget the MAGIC books bring to the lives of those we love so dearly.

Also of interest to ESCC moms and dads: A free educational Web site underwritten by Reading Is Fundamental has been launched to help parents/caregivers develop the language skills of infants, toddlers, and preschoolers. RIF's Leading to Reading program is a fun and interactive online resource featuring games, stories, music, and other engaging activities for adults to experience together with their children. Joan & Kathy
